Description

Citizen Journey is an app designed to give young people access to EU information, knowledge and help understand the impact of the EU cohesion policies on social, economical and environment domains. Europe is shown as a playground that the user can explore. Simply tap on a colour to get to know information about following topics: sustainability (green), geography (pink), demography (blue) and economy (red).

Benefits

Fun way for people to get information about different aspects of European cities.

How open data is used

The application uses publicly available data about different European cities, for instance which factors contributes most to pollution in Belgium, or what Germany's regional distribution of public funds is.
