 Company:	Offene Vergaben
 Sector:	Government & Public Sector
 Product / service:	Website
 Type of data:	Financial data
 Origin:	Austria

Description

Offene Vergaben, a civil society project of the Austrian Freedom of Information Forum, makes public contracts of €50 000 or more traceable and opens up data about procurement procedures. The website's goal is to make citizens more knowledgeable and aware of how public funds are used.

Benefits

The website covers over 30 industries and allows users to:

-  Filter the data and create different types of visualisations;
-  Receive updates by e-mail; and
-  Export data in a machine-readable format.

How open data is used

Government agencies publish tenders on data.gv.at and Offene Vergaben scrapes this data as well as the metadata and publishes it on the website. The data, the metadata, and the source code are all open for anyone to access and re-use.
