Description

DataFrance is an open data visualization platform. Thanks to an interactive map and more than 36,000 files dedicated to each municipality, their platform allows consultation, comparison and analysis of data throughout France. For each municipality, they provide more than sixty indicators on various themes, such as population, real estate, education, transport, or environment.

Benefits

DataFrance offer services to organizations with visualisations needs. They make open data accessible to as many people as possible.

How open data is used

DataFrance' visualisations are based on open data and can be found on their website. DataFrance is part of the open data movement and wants to help promote greater openness of data in the interest of all audiences.
