Quick facts

-  Company: CITIUS
-  Sector: Transport
-  Product / service: Mobile app & repository
-  Type of data: Movement data
-  Origin: Greece

Benefits

-  CITIUS is a crowdsourcing solution for building smart transportation services without investing in large sensor networks. Cities can better support urban design decisions.

How Open Data is used

-  It builds on a smartphone application that collects and analyses user movement data, detects the type of movement and stores information in a repository for further analysis. Combining analytics and Open Data, cities can better support urban design decisions.

Future plans

-  Our challenge is to motivate end users to participate to this crowdsourcing model. This will be done by providing added value services and real-life rewards, to our premium contributors.
